Well here it is November and we find ourselves wondering, once again, where did the year go? Due to many different variables, we have not distributed a FoxTracks since April. It doesn't seem like it's been 6 months already.

With winter quickly approaching (or maybe here already) we have a couple of reminders for you. Also, it has also come to our attention that some of you may not be aware of many of the services we offer. So, along with the "winterizing" reminders, we hope this serves as a reminder that we are here to help provide the solutions you may be looking for.

Winterizing Reminders

Grease and Oil – Does your equipment recommend a different type for winter? Some air compressor, gearbox, and other equipment manufacturers recommend the oil and/or grease be changed for different seasons. Check your Owner's Manual.

Pumps – If your pump is not used during the winter months it might need to be drained of all liquid. Where possible, you might need to remove the pump and store it in a dry place for the winter. Check your Owner's Manual for winterizing recommendations.

Don't forget about the repairs you made during the warmer months. Is there something you need to "finish" before winter gets here? For example, the pipe repairs you took care of but have not re-insulated yet.

Winter may also be a good time to have your shut down equipment reconditioned before spring comes around again. Remember that some parts are not always readily available, especially in today's economy. Some distributors have reduced their inventories.
